

10th Graduate Colloquium on Slavic Linguistics

Call for Papers

The Department of Slavic and East European Languages and Cultures and the Slavic Linguistics Forum at Ohio State are pleased to announce the Tenth Graduate Colloquium on Slavic Linguistics. The colloquium will take place on Saturday October 27, 2012, at the Ohio State University campus in Columbus, OH.

The keynote speaker will be Dr. Grace Fielder. Dr. Fielder is in the Russian and Slavic Studies Department and the Second Language Acquisition and Teaching Program at the University of Arizona where she teaches courses on Slavic linguistics, language and identity, and semiotics. Her research focuses on the discourse, pragmatics, and historical sociolinguistics of the Balkan languages. She will be a Fulbright scholar in Spring 2013 at the University of Sofia, Bulgaria, teaching in the translation studies program. Her recent publications have been on discourse markers in the Balkan languages and include the co-translated Bulgarian novel, Bai Ganyo.

We invite students and recent graduates working in all areas of Slavic, Balkan, and East-European linguistics to submit abstracts. These areas include but are not restricted to: phonetics, phonology, morphology, syntax, semantics, pragmatics, historical linguistics, sociolinguistics, psycholinguistics, second language acquisition, and dialectology.

We encourage students working in both formal and functional frameworks to participate in this event. Interdisciplinary projects from the students in related fields such as anthropology, sociology, psychology, and comparative studies are welcome, as far as they are related to Slavic and East-European languages.

Each presentation will be allowed 20 minutes plus 10 minutes for discussion.

Please send abstracts (maximum 500 words) to Kate White (white.1648@osu.edu). The abstracts should be anonymous. Please include your name, affiliation, mailing address, and email address in the body of the email. The deadline for abstract submission is August 15th, 2012.

Accommodation with local graduate students will be available.

If you have any questions, please contact the organizers.

Organizers:

Kate White (white.1648@osu.edu)

Michael Furman (furman.25@osu.edu)

Monica Vickers (vickers.140@osu.edu)