

Dr. Miriam G. Schwartz Slavic Award

This fund was established April 4, 2008, with gifts from Dr. Miriam G. Schwartz through the Miriam & Stanley Schwartz Jr. Philanthropic Foundation. It is used to provide merit-based scholarship support for undergraduate students who have declared a major in Russian language, literature, culture, or linguistics. To be considered for an award a student must have at least junior status and a minimum GPA of 3.5. Graduate students may also be considered.

The application comprises the following: (1) This form, with all the required information filled out; (2) a statement in English specifying why you are applying for the funds and how you intend to use them; (3) a Slavic Department faculty member, lecturer, or Graduate Teaching Associate who has agreed to be a reference. All applications should be submitted by the deadline to the Department of Slavic and East European Languages and Cultures, 400 Hagerty Hall, or to Derek Peterson at peterston.636@osu.edu.
